In ancient Greece, wine was integrated into every facet of life from worship to commerce. Contemporary Mediterranean communities continue to hold wine in high regard as a living tradition passed one generation to the next. The Gianulias family has long participated in this strong Greek tradition, handcrafting special bottlings from Napa and other U.S. regions to share with family and friends since 1926. The Greek toast "Leventi" is an encouragement to celebrate life, acknowledging a hard day's achievement while celebrating the fields, rain and sun that nurture these special grapes. The Mediterranean tradition of calling together family and friends to share wine and a meal is the cornerstone of the Leventi legacy – heartfelt interaction and a wish to share something special and unique. Winemaker Alison Doran has worked with the finest Napa vineyards for over 30 years. Favoring viticulture over winemaking intervention, Doran harvests at optimum ripeness and gets the "pop & jump" out of every grape.

Red Hen Vineyard in Napa's Oak Knoll appellation is known for lush, concentrated Chardonnay: small berries, small clusters and small yields creating fruit-forward, intense and opulent Chardonnay. 2005: James Laube, Wine Spectator: 92 Points "Super-ripe and exotic, with layers of rich tropical fruit and hints of apple, pear and pineapple. The fruit dovetails to hints of citrus and melon, all while keeping it at the forefront. Drink now through 2010."

Cold Creek Chardonnay: Fog blankets this cool Carneros vineyard with a reputation for producing tighter berries with healthy acidity to create well-structured wines with seductive finesse and purity of fruit. 2005: Light straw in color with scents of citrus and green apple. At only 40% malo, this Chardonnay's creamy undertones are spiked with citrus, pear and apple, a hint of vanilla and a smooth, refreshing finish.

Sweetwater Ranch Cabernet Sauvignon 2004: the small crop heightened flavor and overall balance, yielding a beautifully bold 100% Cabernet Sauvignon. Dark purple/ruby in color with black currant and mixed dark fruit aromas, a palate of fresh currant and blueberry and a dark-chocolate finish

A collection of the finest Cabernet Sauvignon selections and clones in California, prestigious Stagecoach Vineyard rests on the southern face of Pritchard Hill at elevations of 900' to over 1700'. Cool fog rolls off the hills each summer morning and the vines enjoy spectacular ripening exposure to the sun; the combination of cool nights and lengthy warm days encourages exceptional complexity. 2004: James Laube, Wine Spectator: 91 Points. "Young and understated, with spicy red currant, fresh earth, herb, cedar, tobacco and anise scents that fan out on the palate, ending with dry, chewy tannins. Decant."
